

Dr. Sukanya Krishnamurthy

Dr. Sukanya Krishnamurthy is a Chancellors Fellow/ Senior Lecturer at the School of Geosciences, The University of Edinburgh. Her focus lies at the interface between urban and social geography, where her scholarship analyses how cities can use their resources and values for more sustainable development. Key research areas include: children's geographies, lived experience research in diverse urban contexts, and participatory methods for engaging children and youth in design and planning. She has been a PI and team member on research projects in the UK, Netherlands, Germany, Canada, Israel, Turkey and India.

